Eight Finish College Stay At Mid-Year

Eight students will complete their college careers the end of this semester according to Miss Mattie Harms, registrar.

The largest number of them plan to teach school. Helen Marie Mueller, Appleton, Wis., will complete work toward a bachelor of arts degree in elementary education. She has accepted a position as principal at Immanuel Lutheran School, Golden, Ill.

A native of Monticello, Rose Stadtmueller, who will complete requirements for a bachelor of science in education, plans to teach in California.

William Wiederanders, graduating cum laude, finishes a bachelor of music education degree in voice. A resident of Waverly, he will teach at Denver this coming semester.

Nannen To Mutual

Accepting a position at Lutheran Mutual, Melvin Nannen, bachelor of science in education, is from Glasford, Ill.

Two of this number plan to be inducted into the army in the near future. They are John Chezik and James Woodrow. Another native of Waverly, Chezik will finish a bachelor of arts degree in English. Woodrow, who comes from Beloit, Wis., is completing work toward a bachelor of arts in business administration and economics.

Fritschel Leaves

Coming from Denver, Colo., Fritz Fritschel, bachelor of arts in English, will graduate magna cum laude. He hopes to continue his education in Berlin, Germany, for six months beginning in February.

Gary Volberding plans to go into radio work. From Chicago, Ill., he is completing a bachelor of arts in English.

TO BE BUILT west of Centennial Hall, this men's dorm is the first unit of a proposed two-unit project. Architects have just about finished drawing up plans, with construction slated to start this spring.

Becker Home, Recovering

Dr. C. H. Becker, president of Wartburg College, returned to his home Dec. 22 from Mercy Hospital, Waverly, where he had been confined following a heart attack on Nov. 30.

"Even though I am still confined to my bed, I appreciate being home with my family," stated Dr. Becker. "I am feeling fine and am impatient to get out of bed and back to work."

Dr. Becker is permitted to sit up three times each day for 45-minute periods, and is allowed to have two visitors for short periods each day.

"I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the hundreds of students and many members of the faculty and staff who have sent letters, cards and other remembrances, and especially to the groups that caroled," said Dr. Becker. "To all who have helped to make this Christmas one of the most meaningful in our experience, I would like to convey my heartfelt gratitude and sincere appreciation.

"We are grateful to God that I am well on my way to recovery, and I am eager for the time when I will be able to resume my duties on the campus," he concluded.

Enrollment Mark Surpasses Past

Pre-registration of freshmen for the fall of 1957 is still ahead of last year, according to Norm Fintel, public relations director. Already registered this year are 102 compared with 98 a year ago.

Twenty-two additional students will arrive next week to begin the second semester. Of these, seven are former students, and 15 are new.

Convo To Feature Profs

A college president and a university high school teacher are scheduled to appear on the convocation program for the first week of the second semester.

On Tuesday, Jan. 22, Dr. Gaylord M. Couchman, president of the University of Dubuque, will speak in convo.

John H. Haefner, associate professor of social studies and head of social studies at University High School, Iowa City, and a brother to Dr. Alfred Haefner, head of Wartburg's Greek Department, will speak at the Jan. 24 convo.

Haefner, who attended the University of Chicago and the State University of Iowa, will speak on "Johnny's Parents in a Jam: — Public Education on the Horns of a Dilemma."

In his address Haefner will attempt to present the conflicting views as to the purposes of public secondary education and to suggest the problems which these contrasting philosophies contain.

Pass Wage Hike For Student Help

A blanket five-cent wage hike for college employed students was announced this week by Student Body President Don Altmann and H. C. Engelbrecht, college business manager.

Effective immediately, the boost in student wages comes as a result of a surplus of college funds budgeted for student campus work and negotiations between student government and the administration.

Rate Raise On Docket

Raise in rates will be the topic when the Wartburg College Executive Committee meets on Jan. 17.

Officials see the necessity due to the rising cost of faculty and addition of new members. A raise in either tuition, board or room rates could develop, but the change would not be very large, according to H. C. Engelbrecht, college business manager.

Compared to another American Lutheran College, Capital University, Columbus, Ohio, Wartburg rates could be raised considerably and still be under Capital's.

Total for a year at Capital for American Lutheran Church members, including tuition, room, board and general fees is $1,010. Wartburg's comparable fees are $831.

Before You Leave . .

Dean Ernest Oppermann stresses that all students who plan to leave at the end of this semester should check for refunds in his office.

Altmann said that he was "gratified" at the increase and pledged that the Senate would continue work and research in this and other student welfare areas.

Engelbrecht pointed out that information on student wages at other colleges gathered by a Senate committee had been helpful in bringing about the pay increase and added that the questionnaires are still undergoing study by the administration.

Agenda Listed

Elsewhere on the student government scene the Senate turned its attention to the Student Body Project, National Student Association membership, dancing and Who's Who election.

Bob Mattheis, Student Body Project chairman, stated at the Senate's Monday night meeting that although the drive is nearly $2,000 short of the $4,000 goal set this fall, he hopes to raise an additional $1,000 before the campaign is completed.

Mattheis cited a campus carnival and project-sponsored dance as possible fund-raising endeavors being considered. To date slightly under half of the pledged $2,000 has been collected.

Adopts NSA

Questioned by senators about the failure of the project to reach its goal, Mattheis said that student contributions failed to meet expectations.

The Senate acted to adopt the Iowa-Nebraska regional NSA constitution, thus making Wartburg a member of the National Student Association. At present there are three member schools in the state, including Wartburg. An NSA representative has announced, however, that six to ten schools are contemplating membership.

Dancing question brought an apparent clash of opinion between the Senate and the Student-Faculty Council. While the Council seemed opposed to any informal dancing this year at its Dec. 12 meeting, the Senate favored at least one informal dance almost unanimously. No official action was taken by either body.

Senate Opposes Formal

Senators felt the social and economic situation would keep students away from strictly formal dances, especially if students could not go stag. Opinion was also expressed that there would be calendar and facility limitations on the number of formal dances that could be held.

Turning to Who's Who elections, the Senate acted to set a 2.5 average for all previous college work as a minimum requirement for candidates. The same bill limited the field of candidates to seniors.

Another bill limited voting to members of the sophomore, junior and senior classes.

No Escape

If there were a way, we would have found it, but since TRUMPET staffers can't get out of taking semester tests, either, there won't be any paper next week. First issue of the second semester is scheduled for Jan. 26.

If Haus Or House — It's Still Cotta

At Clinton . . . And Waverly

By Joan Pape

If you, like many others, were under the impression that the name for Cotta House was derived from another letter of the Greek alphabet, you are wrong. For the word "Cotta" is not taken from the Greek alphabet, but from a German name.

As legend has it, back in the days when young Martin Luther was attending school in Eisenach, he used his singing voice as his only means of support. A woman named Madame Ursula Cotta, attracted by the sweet face and voice of the boy, offered him a place in her home during his stay in that city.

As Madame Cotta's husband was a leading merchant and a member of a prominent family, many new opportunities were given to the young Luther which he had not experienced before. Just at the age when he needed it most, Luther was given the advantage of living under the influence of a cultivated Christian woman in a peaceful family surrounding, free from the anxiety for means of support.

Clinton

Waverly

Cotta Possible Legend

Though some authorities now believe this legend to be false, the name of Cotta is still remembered by the biographers of Luther, and, as it is on our campus, given to the housing units of Lutheran colleges.

The first Wartburg "Cotta Haus" was erected at Clinton during the school year 1922-23. At that time it was a dormitory consisting of two units. The building was an important addition to the campus, since it made it possible for space in the main building, formerly used as living quarters, to be used for instructional purposes.

Formerly President's House

The present Cotta House is indeed a house—it used to be the president's residence and was located just east of Old Main. During the Wartburg expansion program, however, the house ceased to be the president's residence and was moved to its present location. It also differs from the former Cotta Haus in that it is no longer a men's dormitory but a living unit for women, now housing 14 coeds.

Thus it is that Madame Cotta not only provided a home for a struggling young student named Martin Luther several centuries ago, but also gave a name to a home for many other struggling young students of the 20th century.

Wartburg Saddened by Passing of Mrs. Young

The Warthurg community was saddened to learn that Mrs. William L. Young passed away early this week. We commend her soul to her Heavenly Father and pray that He send His Spirit to comfort her husband in this hour of trial.

Dr. Young is executive secretary of the Board of Higher Education of the American Lutheran Church and a long-time friend of the Wartburg family.

May we with the lyricist of the hymn take comfort in the fact that — we are hut strangers here, Heaven is our home.

What In The World

By Oon Oberdorfer

Among other despicable things that have been hrought about hy recent continuing strife in Hungary, economic depression seems to be as rampant as the other vital lines which separate the life and death states of a country. The revolt, a heroic fight by the oppressed against the ruling "war mongers," sent out the heaming signal to the rest of the world, including those countries hehind the iron curtain, that the eventual hope for freedom is still a vital part of man's nature.

These heroic efforts, loudly as they were lauded, nevertheless do not keep the inevitable "wolf" of starvation from the door. Russia, hurdened with its own growing problems, is unahle to donate much in the line of assistance to its suffering protectorate.

The shaggy bear, with its shaggy leeders, has falt sharp digs in its infested hide by tha loss of several billions of dollars in foreign investmants. Along with the loss of this money, Russia has been forced to hand out bags of tha well-known rubles in an effort to keep its floundering satellites above the water line.

Kadar, the oily puppet of Russia who does all the dirty work in subjugated Hungary, oozed his hands through his greasy hair and appealed, by the means of growls, to the West for help. Tbe West, disliking to stand by with assumed airs, was placed in the tricky trap of political quicksand.

The question posed dealt with the following: Since multitudes of Red army tanks were still treading through the Budapest streets, should this country give help which may aid an enemy to get back on its feet, so that it may once more attempt to help in the drive to erush all capitalistic nations?

Kadar, having felt out his situation and standing, knew how imperative it was that the resentment of the people against Russia be dealt with. In an effort to eppease the people and at tha same time cope with the ever-mounting economic problem, Kadar allowed the small businessman to go back into his trade and the nation's backbone, the farmer, to be freed to a certain extent from his quota raquirements.

All of these facts show that, while the people have foughl valiantly for their freedom, having lost, they are now doomed economically unless some God-fearing country remembers that it is, after all, its "brother's keeper."

Epiphany Season Evangelism Time

By Vivian Rudolf

The festival of Epiphany received a little more attention than usual, since it fell on a Sunday this year. The "Christmas rushing" all done, we were able to think more ahout the real meaning and message of Epiphany.

The celebration of Epiphany suggests the work of evangelism. This season should each year move us to greater gratitude to a loving God for sending us the light and a greater desire to carry this light to men everywhere.

Rudolf

We would he without God and without hope in the world if God in His adorahle mercy had not sent His well-heloved Son to he Savior, not only of the Jews, but also of the Gentiles. And during this Epiphany season we think of how the prophecy was gloriously fulfilled when the Wise Men from the East, the forerunners of the great Gentile host, came and worshiped Christ in Bethlehem.

"And the child grew and became strong, filled with wisdom; and the favor of God was upon him. And Jesus increased in wisdom and in stature, and in favor with God and man."—Luke 2: 40, 52.

God, too, wants us to grow, especially in our spirits—that part of us which is in touch with God and which brings God into our lives. When we became God's children through baptism, God planted within us the beginning of spiritual life. And of course, He wants us to learn how we can become more like God and like Jesus Christ, our hlessed Savior.

God makes such growth possible. That is why He has given us the Bible and has founded the church. Thet is why He has made the home end told parents to teach their children tha things of God and show them by example how God wants us to live.

The star that led the Wise Men on still shines in Christ's blessed Gospel. It has spread its saving light from sea to sea and pole to pole, and is being carried into the darkest heathen lands by devoted Christian missionaries.

Dubuque Disaster

By Wilbur Flachman

Wartburg Knights evened their Iowa Conference record at 1-1 with a 74-63 conquest of the University of Dubuque Tuesday night.

The Knights grabbed a 12-0 lead and held onto it during the entire contest. The Dubuque squad pulled up close several times in the final quarter, but some clutch shooting by sophomore Gil Wessel put the victory in the sack during the waning minutes. Al Bahlmann paced all scorers with 17 tallies, 9 of which were free throws. Al had 14 consecutive gift shots before missing on his fourth attempt against Dubuque.

Take Opener

In the Muscatine tourney, sponsored by the Muscatine Quarterback Club, the Knights started in convincing manner, as they set a team scoring record by trouncing Culver-Stockton 103-74. Six players hit in the double figures as Wartburg canned 45 per cent of its shots on the way to the blistering 103 total.

Upper Iowa, which defeated Loras the previous evening, continued its mastery over the Knights by posting its second victory over the Wartburg eagers in the finals. The Knights were colder than a polar bear on an ice berg, as only 17 per cent of their shots found the range, and UIU walked off with the first-place trophy, 72-58.

Win One, Lose One

In the New Year's tourney, jointly sponsored by Iowa State Teachers College and Wartburg, the Knights pulled away from Mankato in the final half, to escape with a 78-60 victory. TC, the other host, dealt Luther a 68-64 defeat in games played at Wartburg. The tourney site shifted to Cedar Falls for the finals.

Teachers College effectively took advantage of Frank Stotts' 35-point shooting, plus some superior rebounding, to rack up a 91-74 victory.

Art Margheim, along with Mel Frahm gained positions on the all-tourney team, while John Adix gained a similar berth in the Muscatine affair.

Central Flying Dutchmen Here Tonight For Important Iowa Conference Clash

By Bill Melvin

Fresh from its first Iowa Conference victory of the season over Dubuque, Wartburg faces the invasion of Central's Flying Dutchmen tonight at 7:30 in Knights Gymnasium.

Coach Marinus Kregel's Dutchmen have seven returning lettermen from last year's squad that split two games with the Knights. Kregel's teams perennially feature a ball-control style of offense and rugged defense.

Dykstra Leading Scorer

Six-foot center, Virgil Dykstra, has been one of Central's leaders both in scoring and in rebounding, and junior forward Ken Loats has also provided plenty of scoring punch.

Numbered among Central's victims this year are both highly touted Simpson, in two overtimes, and the powerful Upper Iowa squad, which has twice bumped the Knights. Last Tuesday night the Dutchmen almost surprised undefeated Coe but finally faltered 62-60 in the final minutes.

TC On Friday

Next Friday night Wartburg entertains Iowa State Teachers in a non-conference battle. The Knights will be seeking revenge for a licking handed them by the Panthers in the Holiday Tournament play at Cedar Falls.

Pretzelmen Face Luther

Knight wrestlers roll out the mats at 2 p.m. today as they play host to the Luther mat men. This is the first wrestling clash for Wartburg this season.

Coached by Norm Johansen, Knight grapplers have been conditioning themselves and working on holds. Johansen is uncertain, however, how Wartburg will perform in the ring with Luther today.

Eight weight divisions comprise the schedule of events in this afternoon's meet. Knight defenders in the divisions are: Maynard Weyers, 123-pound; Chuck Burman, 130-pound; Dick Chellevold, 137-pound; Wendell Wilharm, 147-pound; Arno Frerichs, 157-pound.

Coach Johansen is uncertain about the weight divisions in which veteran Arnie Brandt and Gene Oltrogge will clash. They will, however, compete in the 167- or 177-pound matches. Bruce Brye will defend the heavyweight division.

• Well, who knows what the future will bring? No one, of course. Yet, unquestionably the sensible thing to do is to plan ahead today for those important tomorrows . . . tomorrows that will mean the difference between happiness or regrets for you.

Let's face it! An unplanned future would be tragic whether you were alive or not. If you died within those 30 years, you'd force your loved ones to find another source of income. If you lived, you'd be fifty years old with much less time then to save for retirement — even if you were still insurable.

Students Vacation; Campus Crews Work

While students vacationed during the Christmas holidays, Wartburg's maintenance crew was on the go, making many campus improvements.

Enlargement of the chemistry laboratory, including a new $1,400 lab table, increased plumbing facilities and additional tube lighting was the most noticeable improvement.

In addition to the usual campus "vacation house-cleaning," crew members added radiators to Old Main and refinished the gym floor.
